

Dying in the darkness

I have a new life, a new goal,
But in the waves, I lose control.
Every night, my tears are falling,
Drowned in the dark, the water.
I suffocate in the deep water.
Thinking, thinking, never endless crying.

Dying in the darkness,
In the ocean endless.

My memories overwhelm me,
And I fall into the depths.

No sky, no stars,
Just me for survive.

When I thought it was all done,
I saw a light shining like the sun.
I barely opened my tired eyes,
And find myself beneath the skies.
Then I knew, so clear, so true,
That guiding light was only you.